Every Christmas we love to be caught up in the joy, the shopping for gifts, the “angels” choir singing praise for the birth of Jesus our Savior, and the church pageants by the young people depicting Mary, the manager, and the birth of the Christ child. But we often over-load the real purpose of the coming.

Of course, we know Jesus came to redeem us from sin and He did so on the cross so that we make our sons and daughters of our Heavenly Father, but as our theme Scripture shows, we see so much more that our Savior purchased for us—not only our eternal salvation—but everything we need here and now in life. We will look into these blessings in a moment, but I am reminded of a humorous, but sweet, story that our dear C.M. Ward loved to tell every Christmas.

In one of the church pageants that the kids to ten or so years old donned their bathrobes and all the other props they could gather, and1 performed to depict the Christmas story the Sunday night before Christmas. Of course, the big moment came as Mary and Joseph approach the innkeeper to secure a room. You know the story well: “No room! No room!” Joseph pleads again and again, until finally the little innkeeper was so exhausted and worst of all, Mary was pregnant and near to giving birth! Again, it was made clear—“NO ROOM!” Joseph pleaded again and again, until finally the little innkeeper was so moved with compassion he broke down and said: “Well, I know I am not supposed to say this, but COME ON IN!”

I’m sure all of us, if in the innkeeper’s place, would have desired to say the same thing! Thank God, millions of us have found room for Him in our hearts and we long to lead others into our “inn”.

But, beyond the glorious truth of “so great a salvation” (Hebrews 2:3), Jesus has come to touch, heal, deliver, bless, and provide for our every need.

Never in the last hundred of years have we seen such a need for the compassionate touch of our blessed Savior: Twenty-three hurricanes and tropical storms this year in the Gulf of Mexico! Katrina, which virtually destroyed New Orleans, and on the heels of it, Rita, another killer hurricane that finished off much of the Gulf Coast. Multitudes still suffer the effects of the horrific 9.15 underwater earthquake and subsequent tsunami in Indonesia last year. And now, even as we speak, another killer earthquake has struck, this time in Pakistan, where the death toll is
