The Book of God

Reading the Bible As a Chronological Story

Over twenty-five years ago Laurie and I were blessed to discover a book that has energized our love of God's Word and deepened our understanding of the good news of His grace weaving its way through Scripture. Written by the late Walter Wangerin Jr., a long-time pastor and university professor, The Book of God is, as its subtitle describes, the "Bible as a novel." Put a little differently, this large volume of over 625 pages is a chronological story version of Scripture that brings rich context, color, character, and emotion to the biblical narrative from Genesis to Revelation.

Over the years Laurie and I have worn out several copies of The Book of God as we read it together each day, and it has truly given us a deep love for the Bible.

As a highly regarded storyteller, Wangerin infuses drama, humanity, and relevance into the many biblical stories we've all read our entire lives. From Abraham wandering in the desert and Moses leading the people of Israel to their promised land, to the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus and the beginnings of the New Testament church, The Book of God brings the biblical narrative to life in a way that will give you a new love and devotion to Scripture.

Over the years Laurie and I have worn out several copies of The Book of God as we read it together each day, and it has truly given us a deep love for the Bible. Often it has moved us to tears as we read through the many stories of God's care and compassion for people that is the central theme throughout Scripture.

Not long before he passed away we had a chance to sit down with Walter Wangerin, to talk about this monumental work that has really become a modern Christian classic. When asked what he wanted readers to take away from The Book of God, Wangerin responded simply that "I hope they would find that the book through and through made sense of the world — which is what I think God would hope for it."

Laurie and I can emphatically confirm that The Book of God does exactly that. While not intended to replace your Bible reading, it focuses the lens of God's redemption in a way that can't help but draw you closer to Him. If you're like us, it will fill you with a sense of the divine order of God's plan and purpose across the landscape of Scripture. In fact, one reason The Book of God has resonated with us so deeply is that in many ways it mirrors our vision here at TBN—to make the message of God's love and compassion relevant and accessible to people everywhere.

Friend, thank you for helping make that happen through your prayer and support of TBN's global broadcast outreach. Your partnership is key to every heart and home we impact with the love of Jesus.

Matt and Laurie Crouch

Prepare to be encouraged and inspired as you experience the Bible as never before with this rich and vibrant narrative. Dramatizing the sweep of biblical events, The Book of God brings to life the men and women of Scripture in vivid detail, description, settings, and dialogue. From Abraham wandering in the desert to Jesus' life, death, and glorious resurrection, you'll be caught up and transformed by the powerful story of the Bible from start to finish.

PAX

HITTEL. SZERETTEL.

Budapest, Hungary's nearly 3.5 million residents are covered by PAX TV.

WHERE COMMUNIST OPPRESSION ONCE RULED, HUNGARY'S PAX TV IS SHARING GOD'S HOPE AND GRACE

One of TBN's newest partner networks, PAX TV is impacting over 8.3 million potential viewers in Hungary, and millions more across Eastern Europe, with culturally relevant Christian programming and content.

With studios in Hungary's capital city of Budapest, PAX TV is guided by Jozsef and Lilla Gere, pastors and Christian leaders who grew up under the communist oppression that ruled Hungary for decades. The goal of PAX TV, said Pastor Jozsef, is to impact Hungary's largely secular society through content that demonstrates God's love and models strong Christian values.

"Happy to find a channel that shares miracles and inspires people every day. I feel I am healed just by listening to the wonderful stories on PAX TV."

PAX TV VIEWER TESTIMONIES

"It is a great joy for me to hear authentic stories of hope and inspiration from PAX TV."

"Our vision is to inform, inspire, educate, and encourage through quality, entertaining programming," explained Pastor Jozsef. "That includes featuring Hungarian pastors, Christian leaders, and musicians who bring their messages, music, and testimonies of faith and God's grace."

Raised in communist Hungary where Christianity was forbidden, Jozsef and Lilla Gere now share God's love across the nation through PAX TV.

Reaching Prisons With Digital Faith Content

Electronic tablets give inmates personal access to life-changing TBN programming

For years TBN's 2nd Chance outreach has been taking the good news of Jesus into prisons through 24-hour networks like the TBN flagship channel and the Enlace Spanish-language Christian network.

Now tens of thousands of additional inmates are receiving the life-changing message of God's love through personal electronic tablets loaded with exclusive TBN content like Better Together with host Laurie Crouch, Your Best Life Now with Joel Osteen, Beyond Blessed from Robert Morris, Crushing with T.D. Jakes, and a lot more.

TBN 2nd Chance director Mark Reynolds noted that currently inmates in over 300 correctional facilities are benefiting from TBN programming on personal tablets, and that number is expected to increase dramatically in the next few months. "Tablets allow inmates

"Thank you TBN for bringing the Good News of Jesus into prisons."

to be impacted by TBN's digital content right in their cells," he explained, "helping to personalize their connection to the message of God's hope and grace."

Said one inmate of TBN's 2nd Chance programming: "I often feel lost and forgotten. But when I turn on TBN, the power and hope of God fills my space and changes everything. Thank you TBN for bringing the Good News of Jesus into prisons."
