Creation in the 21st Century with David Rives welcomed Dr. Terry Mortenson with Answers in Genesis, who said the time it took to erode rocks is not data, but an interpretation of data. The data is the rocks themselves and the erosional feature. Bruce Malone told us it is literally scientifically impossible, in the vacuum of space, for a star to have formed itself. No one has ever seen that. Steve Ham with Answers In Genesis said for a Christian, belief in millions of years, or evolution, means there is an inconsistency in the understanding of the history of Genesis and of the Gospel. Nathan Hutcherson with Creeping

Things Ministries told us that any time you look at God's creation, you're going to see a little shadow of His glory.
