JOY IN OUR TOWN

Host Shundra Barnes and Donald Leeth

Mobile County Emergency Management Plans and Operation Officer Donald Leeth advised residents to get weather radios. The first step for preparedness is getting the notifications. Also, TV, and many cell phones have free weather apps. The second step is to have a plan. For tornados, do not stay in a vehicle, do not stop under bridges, or try to out drive the storm. Get inside a safe building. We have the old civil defense sirens in Mobile. When you hear that siren, go inside, turn on TV or radio for instructions. Do not drive through flood water. Evacuate before the flood. In a lightning event, use the 30/30 rule. When you hear thunder, or see flashes of lightning, count to 30. If you count to 30 or under, get inside. If you are outside, get low to the ground, away from structures.

Senior Host LaTrynnda C. Hollins and Prichard Mayor Troy Ephriam

“The Stigma of Prichard Being Bad”. Mayor Troy Ephriam history of the last few decades left Prichard with the stigma of poverty, high crime rates, and a community that was deteriorating into blight and being abandoned. The downtown area was boarded up, and businesses did not want to invest. The key to change was creating a good atmosphere of positivity, credibility, and plans that have a vision for growth. The program “Think Prichard, Buy Prichard, Buy local” helped people began to see that this was not the Prichard of old, the city that is being mischaracterized, but we have a great city, with good civic minded citizens, praying people. The leadership is motivated, and we improved the main corridors with lighting, widening roads, and now people feel safe. The city of Prichard is an inviting place.

University of Mobile 2015

As part of our Gift to the City we partnered with the University of Mobile for another year of Christmas music honoring the Birth of Jesus.
