JOY IN OUR TOWN

Hostess Shundra Barnes talked to Catfish Charlie, Dale Thrasher and Ronnie Blakeney about helping families and individual who have trouble or tragic life events; because we are here to be servants for Jesus and to show everyone that we all need help sometimes. The first time they did this, they went out on the river and fished for 3 days, and the Lord gave 800 lbs. of fish. Last year we recorded 22,000 lbs. They catch and provide catfish, and then let them find a location, and find helpers to bring supplies and set everything up; then come with their crew and do the cooking.

Right: Hostess Shundra Barnes talked to Tonisha Houston and Casey Jordan L.O.V.E.S.P.E.A.K.S. about what makes a bully. The guests talked about how to help the victims of bullies, because hurt people will hurt other people. Jordan said "We let them know they can learn who they are in Christ, and not be bound by their circumstances."

Left: Host Lorenzo Martin talked to Ferman Jackson from Fight Club about having too many inmates in our Metro jail system. As an officer in Mobile Metro Jail we deal with people from different backgrounds, new people are incarcerated every day. "I don't look at what they've done, it is about the guy. I do believe people can change their lives. God is forgiving, and there is mercy and grace every day. We want to bring possibility to someone's life every day, even just one person is a job well done."

Joy in our Town host Pastor Joseph Johnson and guests Alan Singleton, Head Chaplain, and Charles Fail, Director of Chaplaincy at the Mobile Metro Jail discussed the challenges of being jailed. The mission of the Chaplaincy at Mobile Metro Jail is to have a place for the inmates to come, can be counseled, and taught in jail. Most inmates are in a place of despair, "we try to give them hope, in Jesus Christ."

Left: Host Pastor Joseph Johnson and guests Charles Fail, Director of Chaplaincy at the Mobile Metro Jail and Sandy Delchamps, Founder/Director of City of Refuge in Lucedale, MS discussed the challenges of ex-offender re-entry into society.
