

WPGD-TV

Hendersonville/Nashville

December 2016

December 5, 2016

Jason Crabb hosted our Christmas Praise which was a beautiful night of Christmas music and stories by the artists of their favorite Christmas memories. Matthew West sang, "Unto Us," "Join the Angels," and "Heart of Christmas." Matthew's favorite Christmas story is about pennies in baby food jars that he received from his grandmother. Emily Ann Roberts sang, "How Many Kings" and "Have Yourself a Merry Little Christmas." Emily Ann's favorite memories are waking early and the excitement of Christmas. HighRoad (Sarah Davison, Kristen Bearfield, Kinsey Kapfhammer, and Lauren Conklin) sang "Christ Child Lullaby," "Let Us Not Forget," and "Christ My Hope My Glory." Jason asked HighRoad if they could name all of the reindeer, which drew much laughter from everyone, and then talked about how special it was that some family members of HighRoad drove twelve hours to be in the audience for this show. John Berry sang "Let Us Be," "I Don't Wanna Rush Christmas", and "O Holy Night." John talked about his Christmas CD (Christmas) and answered some fun Christmas questions. Exile (J.P. Pennington, Steve Goetzman, Marlon Hargis, Les Taylor, and Sonny Lemaire) sang, "Little Drummer Boy," "People Get Ready," and "Children Go Where I Send Thee." Exile shared traditions, as well as, fun memories they have of Christmas. It was a fun, uplifting night that definitely left everyone full of the Christmas spirit.

Kat Vazquez and Wes Howard

Keith Stancil

Kolby Koloff

About a Mile

Wes Howard

Wes Howard and Kat Vazquez hosted About a Mile, who sang "Traded," "All I Need is Jesus," "Hallelujah," "Reach," and "Trust You All The Way." About a Mile consists of three brothers, Adam, Luke, and Levi Klutinyoty. Adam and Luke shared about a health issue Adam had and struggles that they have been through. Author Keith Stancil (Creating Monsters) talked about the importance of abiding in Jesus in order to keep your head where it should be and encouraged others to pray for those that you may be jealous of because it will change your outlook and thinking. Wes Howard brought the Word on how influence matters – that the people you hang out with influence the way you live your life. The After Party brought more music from artist

Crystal Rome

Crystal Rome, our own TMC Production Manager's (Tim Romero) wife! She sang "Let it Rain" and "All for You." Kolby Koloff also gifted viewers and audience members singing her songs "Grow," "Save Yourself," and "No Room." Another night of great music and interviews!

December 12, 2016

Hope and Patience

Becky, Hope, MacKenzie and MacKenzie

Rietta, Hope, and Angela

Hope and Brent

Hope Loftis hosted talked with Becky Sumrall (Executive Director, Begin Anew of Middle Tennessee) about how a better education can lead underprivileged families out of poverty. MacKenzie Wilson and MacKenzie Baker (Delight Ministries) talked about college experiences among young women and their faith - party scenes, struggling with identity, and being concerned about one's future can all take attention away from Christ - and how Delight Ministries brings college aged women to Jesus, encouraging them in their faith, among many other things. Patience Ruffin (The Next Door, an addiction treatment for women) talked about the issues of children who have drug addicted parents as well as helping women overcome their opiate addiction. The Next Door helps children understand what is happening and they stress to the women enrolled in their program that God forgives them and they need to forgive themselves. Brent McDonald (Executive Director, Cottage Cove Organization) talked about the issue of at risk youth and how keeping Christ in the lives of these children can help guide them. Angela Scruggs (Executive Director, The Link) spoke on deaf children transitioning into adult independence and how The Link tries to teach deaf children skills to successfully gain their independence. Desneige VanCleve (Executive Director, Grace Place Ministry) talked about the best way to help children in transition or are homeless. Rietta Turner (Executive Director, Christian Community Services, Inc.) talked about families who currently are on government assistance, but with proper tools, education, and spiritual guidance can become financially independent and more.

Hope and Desneige

December 7, 2016

These great people were in the recording studio recently, working on a couple of different projects. Jason and Angie were doing back ground vocals for a Jamie Coulter project; Rick Lloyd was their engineer. Les (of the band, Exile) was in doing some vocal fixes on his own project.

Pictured to the left are Evangelist Jamie Coulter, Jason Crabb, Angie Primm, Les Taylor, and Rick Lloyd

Facebook 'LIKES' are currently at 3,754! Our post promoting the Christmas Praise had the highest reach this month.

Instagram has 484 followers!

Twitter has 1,300 followers! Our December 9, JUCE LIVE Nashville had the highest impressions.

Wishing everyone a very

MERRY
CHRISTMAS

From WPGD / TMC