JUCE Live Nashville continues to be a phenomenal event! We had a full house in WPGD with top-notch artists challenging young adults through the message, music, and interviews. Willie Moore, Jr. not only hosted the night, but he also took some time to bring the Word to those in the audience and watching live on JUCE TV. Corey Voss brought the music for the night singing "Whirlwind", "Praise the King," "I Got Saved," and "How Great." Joel and Luke Smallbone (For King and Country) were interview guests and they shared their Priceless trailer music video as well as behind the scenes footage. Much to the delight of those that attended, the artists had an impromptu meet and greet with the audience right after the show!

Hope Loftis talked with Rhonda Lowry (President, Operation Andrew) and Nathan Muetting (Co-Director, The Oak Project) about how Christian values can help businesses and other areas of the community. Operation Andrew uses faith based means to help improve the school system, and encourages pastors to get involved in areas such as local governments, prisons, public safety, and transportation. Within Operation Andrew, there is a division called The Oak Project where older, more experienced Christian business people mentor younger ones and also share their relationship with Christ with those they mentor.

Hope Loftis spoke with April Calvin (Director of Center of Hope) and Major Ed Lee (Nashville Salvation Army) about homeless families in the Middle Tennessee area. One of the goals of the Salvation Army is to help people work on issues of mental health, drug and alcohol, or domestic violence issues. The Salvation Army feels it takes the Body of Christ to be involved and engaged to help those in need.

Jason Crabb hosted an energetic night that had the audience members laughing, crying, and worshipping throughout the entire night. Author Chris Maxwell shared his testimony of suffering with a brain disease, living with severe scar tissue in his brain, and learning everything - including falling in love with Jesus - all over again. Chris has written seven books, four of which focus on pausing to rest and take in what is happening right now. Torry Martin kept the audience laughing with his stories about jewelry, his book, living in Alaska, and telling audience members and viewers about a couple of film projects he is part of. Point of Grace (Shelley Breen, Denise Jones, and Leigh Capillino) sang "How You Live," "The Great Divide," and "Directions Home." During their interview, they told Jason they have been together for twenty-five years, talked about their families, and their latest CD. The evening closed out with Jason and Point of Grace singing, "Through the Fire."

Jules Boulton came all the way from Australia to record in our studio! He had previously brought a group of thirty-five people to the states for a musical tour and our recording studio was the only studio in Nashville that would accommodate such a large group. He was so impressed with our facility, that he came back to record his ten song project with us.

Visitor to the Property

Pastor Edith of Liberia, West Africa came by to visit Trinity Music City. She was so very excited to be on a TBN property and mentioned that TBN had much to do with her not giving up on life long ago when one day when she saw Ms. Jan talking on a television screen in a hotel room. Pastor Edith told us of her missionary work in her country and how she survived civil uprisings and more with God's divine guidance. Her ministry cares for and works with girls from all ages to equip them and teach them life skills after enduring disastrous circumstances. She also encourages them to put their trust in Jesus.
